PRESIDENT TALKS TO ENDEAVORERS

Tells Young Christians Beauties of Arbitration.

TWENTY THOUSAND HEAR HIM

Million Dollar Pier Is Beautifully
Adorned for Occasion — Mr.
Taft as "William the Peacemaker."

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—A Christian Endeavor convention, 20,000 strong, packed into the million dollar pier, greeted President Taft here with cheers. Booker T. Washington spoke to the overflow crowd at the end of the pier, while it waited for the president.

The decorations of the hall were magnificent as only Atlantic City can make in electric display of a pavilion. American flags and incandescent lights fluttered along the walls and American eagles flew upward to the ceiling. President Taft was introduced by President Clark of the convention as the greatest worker in the world for universal peace.

"We believe," said Mr. Clark, "that it is better to be remembered to the world as William the Peacemaker than William the Conqueror."

In his address President Taft said: "We have ameliorated in many ways the ancient cruelties of war by Red Cross agreements, by the immunity of private property on land from destruction. Now we are agreeing upon that is called the declaration of London, which it confirmed, as it seems likely to be, will take away from war on the sea these principles of lawful piracy that have always characterized in a naval war the dealing with the private property of the citizens of our enemies."

"By negotiations and mediation and the formation of arbitration agreements, wars in the last decade have been stopped in Central and South America in a most gratifying number of instances."

"I am glad to say that we have reached such a point in the negotiations for a treaty of universal arbitration with one of the great European powers that we can confidently predict the signing of a satisfactory treaty. The arbitration treaty heretofore with Great Britain and other countries has excepted from the causes which may be arbitrated those which involve the vital interests of either party or its honor. The treaty which we are now closing with Great Britain eliminates those exceptions and provides that all questions of international concern of a justifiable character shall be submitted to the arbitration of an impartial tribunal."

"I am exceedingly hopeful that other countries besides Great Britain will accept the form of the treaty or one like it and that we may have half a dozen treaties with the European countries looking toward arbitration of international differences."

GATES GREATLY IMPROVED

Friends in Paris Optimistic and Financial May Go Home Soon.

Paris, July 8.—Intimate friends who see John W. Gates daily say that the condition of the American financier is greatly improved. According to those persons he is sitting up in his room at the hotel during the day and three days ago drove through the Bois de Boulogne.

An abscess in the throat was lanced recently and this left Mr. Gates weak. His physicians ordered that he do no work and no talking. He suffers some from the kidneys, due to poisoning from the abscess in the throat.

MAY CHANGE TO CHICAGO

Senator Gamble Says Lorimer Quiz May Be Brought West.

Chicago, July 8.—United States Senator Gamble of South Dakota, member of the Lorimer senatorial investigating committee, arrived in Chicago and at once went into conference with John H. Marble and John J. Healy, the committee attorneys now at work here.

After conferring with Mr. Marble and Mr. Healy, Senator Gamble said that in all probability the senatorial committee would come to Chicago to hold a session within a fortnight and that there would be many new and important witnesses called.

Would Oust Woman Superintendent. Auburn, Ind., July 8.—Suit has been begun in the circuit court to oust Lida Leasure from the office of county superintendent of Dekalb county. The four trustees filed the suit, basing their action on the grounds that Dr. Leasure does not possess the necessary qualifications, the licenses required by law. She is the only woman ever elected to the office in Indiana.

Nothing more dressy and comfortable than one of Worthy's straw hats for this hot weather.

CLING TO CAPSIZED CRAFT

Escanaba Men Caught in Squall Are Almost Drowned.

Escanaba, Mich., July 8.—After floating for nearly eight hours on the bottom of a capsized sailboat at the mercy of wind and waves, Arthur De-rocher and Henry Brassav of this city were picked up in the vicinity of the Eleven-foot school lightship by the steamer Sailor Boy about 4 o'clock in the morning and brought to this city.

The previous evening they went out for a sail and a squall coming up, the boat capsized and both were thrown into the water, but managed to scramble back on the boat, which kept afloat and they were carried far out into the lake. When picked up they were nearly exhausted.

STORY TELLING A BIG FACTOR IN THE CHILD'S LIFE

—Mrs. Gudron Thorne Thomson

The summer school students assembled in large numbers in Normal Hall Friday evening to listen to a lecture by Mrs. Gudron Thorne-Thomson of the University of Chicago on "Literature as adapted to the various ages of childhood."

This subject was treated delightfully by Mrs. Thomson, who observed that now story-telling had a recognized place in the schools, the libraries and all social centers where children were found. She said that the little child at home and in the kindergarten required the kind of story that is closest to music, the sing-song, the rhymes, "Just as man when a child sang out his sorrows and gave in rhythmic language all that he loved the most and feared the most." She spoke of the new importance accorded Mother Goose, the rhymes having gotten not only into schools, but into colleges.

Every nation is discovered to have its Mother Goose, and everywhere it is a rich mine. It is interesting to note that children of one nation enjoy the rhymes of another, even though the language is strange, thus proving that it is the sound which is the pleasing element, the jingle, the music. "Sing a song of sixpence" was pronounced, in its sound and alliteration, absolutely perfect by the speaker. There is in Mother Goose besides music and rhythm, wisdom and fun.

At the age of six or seven the children may be introduced to a poet who invariably appeals, Robert Louis Stevenson. He makes poetry out of common things, says these things just as a child would say them, and not as an adult who thinks back to his childhood. Mr. Stevenson is funny, he is pathetic, he is even scary. Children up to 10 are safer with him than with any other poet. He wrote for children and not about them. He was with them, and did not look down upon them.

Christina Rossetti is good, Mrs. Thomson said, though apt to be sentimental. She makes poetry out of very lovely things. She read several of Miss Rossetti's things from her "Sing Song." Her poetry is a capital stepping-stone between M. Stevenson and other things more abstract. Edward Lear has written pleasing things for children likewise.

After these periods one is set adrift. It is generally found that older boys cannot be driven to poetry and men disdain it. The schools, by over analysis of poetic gems, are largely responsible for this indifference towards poetry. It does not need to be so. Instead of being obliged to analyze poetry, children should listen to it in large quantities; this is especially desirable in the case of those who read slowly.

After poetry, in order of simplicity, comes the fairy tale, and many of these are adapted to the needs and satisfy children in the seventh and eighth grades. Mrs. Thomson stated that one of the keenest pleasures she had ever experienced was telling stories one year to children in the slums. They assembled by the thousand to hear them, although they were told after school hours, in the jealousy-guarded play time of children. The "Iliad" was cited as an example of the kind that these rough boys found fascinating.

NONSMOKERS OF AMERICA UNITE

Prominent Men Seek Incorporation of the Society.

OBJECT OF THE ORGANIZERS

Proposed Crusade by Men of Nation Wide Prominence Against Indiscriminate Smoking in Public Places.

New York, July 8.—Denial by Justice Giegerich, but on technical reasons only and with leave to renew, of the application for incorporation of "The Nonsmokers of America" has drawn attention to a proposed crusade by men of nation wide prominence against indiscriminate smoking in public places.

The incorporators include Dr. Charles G. Pease of this city, who has attracted attention by having people arrested for smoking in the subway; Professor Burt G. Wilder of Cornell; Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, president of the American Therapeutic society; Jenkin Lloyd Jones, pastor of All Souls' church, Chicago; David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university; James R. Day, chancellor of Syracuse university; Professor Thomas B. Stowell of the University of Southern California; and Professor Winfield S. Hall of Northwestern university.

The organization's purposes are to encourage and co-operate in the enforcement of laws, ordinances and regulations against smoking in public and semi-public places and "to secure the cooperation of all persons in control of buildings, restaurants, hotels, theaters, street cars, railway stations, railway cars, and other places provided for the use of the general public, to prohibit tobacco smoking therein, or so to limit and restrict it that only those who may indulge that habit may be required to inhale the tobacco fumes."

HARPER "DEAD BROKE"

Man Who Lost $6,000,000 in Twenty Minutes So Declares.

New York, July 8.—Edward L. Harper, who tried to corner the Chicago wheat market in 1887, lost $6,000,000 in twenty minutes and incidentally carried down the Fidelity bank of Cincinnati, of which he was vice president, for which he was sent to the Ohio penitentiary for ten years, has no income, and his shirt studs and cuff buttons are in pawn.

These facts were brought out here in the examination of Harper in supplementary proceedings on a judgment of $2,774, obtained by Herman Cohen last November for money loaned.

Dies at Age of 117 Years.

Centerville, Ill., July 8.—Ben Brown, an ex-slave, died at his home in Richview at the age of 117 years. He was the oldest resident of southern Illinois, and has lived at Richview since the Civil war.

HEADQUARTERS CHANGED

The Postal Telegraph Company, which has for a long term of years maintained a branch office in this city, has moved during the week into quarters more in keeping with the vast importance of this corporation, the largest in the world. It now occupies the store on the south side of Congress street which was formerly the business stand of Clark's bakery.

Entering, it is found that the store has been completely renovated. The walls have been freshly done in brown and cream, a partition cuts off superfluous space at the rear, and the new fittings include a counter and various useful appurtenances. Chairs and a table equipped with writing materials will presently be placed near the entrance for the accommodation of patrons.

The operator, Miss Clara Fuller, who has been in the Ypsilanti office for over two years and a half, explained the marvels of the new switch-board which has been installed. Twelve wires, each of which carries four messages at the same time, makes it possible for 48 messages to pass over the wires simultaneously.

TAFT TRIP NOT PARTISAN

Takes with Him Four Republican and Four Democratic Senators.

Washington, July 8.—President Taft's week-end cruise on the Mayflower, which began last night at Philadelphia, is not a partisan affair, as at first supposed. The president invited eight senators to accompany him and of these four are Republicans and four Democrats.

The party includes Senators Penrose of Pennsylvania, Root of New York, Briggs of New Jersey and Brown of Nebraska, Republicans; Taylor of Tennessee, Foster of Louisiana, Bacon of Georgia and Overman of North Carolina, Democrats. Senator Brown at times leans toward insurgency.

Congressman Mitchell Is Dead.

Lawrence, Kan., July 8.—Representative Alexander C. Mitchell of the second Kansas district died at his home here, following a long illness. Mr. Mitchell was elected to the house of representatives last year on a progressive Republican platform.

THINGS FOR DIRECTORS OF RURAL SCHOOLS TO THINK ABOUT

That the law should be repealed which precludes a teacher who holds a third grade certificate from teaching longer than three years and that her teaching experience should be considered a valuable asset, on the one side, and that not to study and take examinations on the two additional subjects required for a second grade certificate showed lack of ambition of the other, were conclusions decided upon during the discussion along the line of the betterment of the small rural schools at a recent meeting of the Ypsilanti Grange.

The subject of the betterment of the rural schools has been a matter of particular interest among the grangers for some time. Mr. Twist, who spoke first, interpreted the question as advancing and if she is not willing dictations which now exist, rather than sweeping away the present regime by introducing centralization of schools. John McDougall and Mr. Twist both believe that the present law should be repealed and that the teacher's experience should count materially and should not be ignored. George Gill on the contrary, thinks that the teacher should be continually studying and advancing and if she was not willing to do this she is not as progressive as she should be.

Mrs. Eugene Strang took up the problem of how to deal with pupils who take the eighth grade examination in April and May, and then refuse to attend sessions till the close in June. In some localities this difficulty has been met by holding the school only eight months, but there are objections to this.

LONG CALLS IMPAIR SERVICE NECESSITATING NEW METHODS -- LANDLADIES ARE BLAMED TO LARGE EXTENT - HOME COMPANY WILL CONTINUE FREE SERVICE

Exactly the commercial value to place upon conversation is a question which will confront the Ypsilanti girls and the Ann Arbor men after July 10 so far as the Michigan State Telephone company is concerned they will charge five cents for three minutes' talk.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE CITY AND D. J. & C. CO. WERE ADJUSTED TODAY

A number of modifications were made by Judge Kinne this morning in the injunction restraining the D. J. & C. Co. from proceeding with the work on the Congress street bridge.

As the injunction now stands the D. J. & C. is enjoined from building or attempting to build any new bridge over the Huron river on Congress street or take any steps toward erecting a new bridge without the consent of the city of Ypsilanti. This is not intended to interfere in any way with the rights, privileges and duties of the railroad company. The D. J. & C. is to take such measures as may be necessary for strengthening, propping up and repairing the present bridge.

Attorney Cavanaugh, who is representing the D. J. & C. stated that the railroad company did not intend to build a new bridge but were taking measures to prevent any liability. He also stated that they were willing to do their share toward replacing the old bridge. Judge Kinne intimated that any liability to accident must be attended to at once and that the railroad company should have the right to strengthen the bridge.

Stories Of See Case Are Poorly Founded

GIRL WHO LEARNED SEE'S METHOD NEVER LIVED IN YPSILANTI.

In crediting Ypsilanti with ever having been the residence of Evelyn See, a perfervid Chicago press has bestowed upon the town an honor not only doubtful, but one which the most careful inquiries have failed of establishing. This man of effeminate cognomen seems to have been confused with the husband and father of one of his unfortunate victims, Stephen Bridges, who was a resident of Ypsilanti about twenty odd years ago and was in the jewelry store of S. H. Dodge. Mr. Bridges, who is a member of the firm of Knowles, Bridges & Company, the largest wholesale jewelry house in Chicago, was in Ann Arbor on business a day or so ago to call on friends. This circumstance doubtless gave rise to the report that Ypsilanti was identified in some manner with this matter.

Mr. Bridges has been drawn into the See affair by reason of the fact that first his wife and later his fourteen-year-old daughter Mildred have become converts to See's peculiar system. He thereupon had See arrested for abduction of his daughter. It seems that earlier in his career See was a paper hanger in a small town near Kalamazoo.

NEW PRESS FEEDER MEETS WITH RATHER PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Bowen Burgess, while at work in the Scharf Tag, Label & Box factory met with a painful accident Friday morning. He began working there Thursday noon and was put to feeding a press. Friday morning his hand got caught in a press and painfully hurt. A physician was called to dress the injured member and the lad was sent to his home.

towns was established in 1881, under the supervision of T. J. Keech of Ann Arbor. The volume of business increased to such an extent that at length there were four circuits in operation. In 1903 at the time of the consolidation of the Bell and the New State phones, the latter owned two free lines, which, added to those of the Bell, has made a service of six free lines between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, still there are complaints of poor service.

The ensuing congestion has been a source of real embarrassment to those who desired to talk on important business, and the exasperating feature of the situation has been that all have left that it was Ypsilanti girls and Ann Arbor students who were thus obstructing the service for the most part. Between seven and eight o'clock they have settled down to conversations which have drawn out their illumined length to thirty, thirty-five and even ninety minutes. This free service was supposedly limited to subscribers, but in truth there seems to have been no bounds whatever upon the amount of service demanded.

The matter has been under advisement by the telephone company since the first of the year but it was considered quite inexpedient to so enlarge the circuits sufficiently to care for these long calls. In tracing back service complaints, it has been found that 50% traced back to the congestion of these trunk lines between Ypsilanti and the University town. One fact which would have been a saving of time to know has never been quite understood by the public, and that is that a long distance line has been maintained and by calling this line, for which there has been a charge of ten cents, it has usually been possible for patrons to be served promptly.

After July 10 a two-number call service will be instituted. For a five-cent service, one calls for the Ann Arbor party and, should another party in the office or household called, answer the call in the absence of the party called for, a charge of five cents will be made, just the same as though the party desired should talk. But by paying ten cents, the telephone company agrees to search out the party desired similar to any long distance call.

NO CHARGE ON THE HOME PHONE LINES

The management of the Home Telephone Company announce that service to Ann Arbor over their lines will still be granted without charge. There seems to be a general feeling that much of the blame for this condition in service between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor belongs to numerous women who conduct rooming houses, and do not request their student roomers to be discreet in their use of the phones in their homes and for which in most cases the students do not even pay a part of the monthly cost. The Home company is confident that service can easily remain free over their lines and more particularly if many of the students who monopolize the phones of their landladies are in some manner impressed with the importance of their employing some little discretion when the time rolls around for their customary "jolly" with some Ann Arbor student whose desire to talk to them doesn't seem strong enough to warrant his calling in person.

WHAT SHALL BE THE FRUITS OF THE MOVING PICTURE PACE?

Perhaps it is too conservative to call the speed of the present generation the "moving picture pace"—especially in view of our flying at a mile a minute or better. But it is better to err on the side of modesty if at all. We do not seem to be willing to take time to do things with sufficient deliberation to do them as well as we might. We do not want to study. We have not wanted to for a long time. It is too slow and moreover savors of work. The serving of an apprenticeship is a lost art. Artists in the crafts are fewer as a result.

Superficiality is one of the penalties. Competent and efficient labor is at a premium. Organization is endeavoring to force the price of skill into the wage scale of incompetency and trouble multiplies. We are not willing to thoughtfully learn our trade or profession. We do not want to read a book which cannot be read at a moving picture pace. We do not want to burden our brain with study. We want to get our knowledge of the whole civil war in ten minutes from a moving picture film at a cost of five cents. We seem to think we can take a few remotely related incidents, illustrated in action, and then draw on our imagination as if it were an unlimited bank account for the rest and really persuade ourselves that we are educated.

And yet there is no more royal road to learning or luck than there ever was. We are extravagant in almost everything but close application to the work of mastering our business. We are "pleasure crazy," according to many of our closest observers, and there is much truth in it. The bill boards and other forms of advertising never let our attention rest from one seductive form of pleasure to another. Scheme follows scheme to separate us from our money and to take us away from our business. We are so much of the time "on pleasure bent" that we are bent nearly double like a half-open jackknife—a position approaching habitual deformity.

An acquaintance in a city not very far from our own gave the following truthful experience: "A pastor stood before his congregation a few Sundays ago and, before commencing his sermon, said: 'I do not know what text to take this morning. I have been gathering statistics this week and they are discouraging. I find that 93 members of my congregation have mortgaged their homes to purchase automobiles; that 63 of them have not paid their interest when due and that the banks are afraid they will have to take the property. I find that some have even mortgaged their homes to pay for repair bills and supplies for their autos.'"

This situation in this one congregation is vouched for. It suggests a similar situation more or less general, differing mainly in degree. Traveling men complain that they cannot find business men at their places of business because they are away on some auto ride. When we recall that this vast investment in autos is an investment which declares no pecuniary dividends and requires often 25 per cent of its cost annually in upkeep and the entire investment is used up and gone in a few years, the question naturally arises, "What will be the fruits of this moving picture pace?"

Said limb had been trimmed to a sharp point and left projecting downward at such a height and angle as to strike the top, as your petitioner turned out of track to pass an auto coming from the west.

SCHULTE GREAT HITTER.

Cubs' Outfielder Makes More Home Runs Than Any Other Player.

If the National league ever adopts the "pinch hit" column in its scoring, so that a record may be kept of the number of runs a batter has driven over the plate, then Frank Schulte, right fielder of the Chicago Cubs, will set up some new marks for sluggers to shoot at.

Schulte not only hits his homers with alarming frequency for the opposition, but he hits them when they count, multiplies them fourfold in the run column—in other words, he makes that baseball dream come true, a home run with the bases full. In 1910 Schulte and Fred Beck, then with Boston, tied for home run honors in the National league with ten each. There is no record kept of how many runs these long

SCHULTE, CUBS' STAR HOME RUN HITTER, hits scored, but it is a safe wager that Schulte, with his penchant for hitting with men on, sent many more over than did his rival for honors.

This season with a lively ball Schulte is out to break his home run record, and if he keeps up the percentage for games played he will have about double the number of homers he registered last year. As veterans go nowadays on the Chicago Cubs, Schulte is a "veteran," though he is a newcomer compared to some of the men that made that great team famous. He joined the Chance machine in 1904. He is one of the Cubs who positively refuses to "go back," for his work this season has been about the best of his brilliant career.

Amusing Obstacle Ride.

Writing about the visit of the German crown princess to Egypt, the Boston Post correspondent says: "Europeans who come here, no matter how devoted they are to the automobile, must become riders of donkeys, and it was easy to find contestants for the donkey obstacle race arranged for the royal lady's entertainment. One of the obstacles consisted of five empty barrels set about two feet apart. The rider was expected to 'wind in and out' between these barrels mounted on a mule and leading a second animal of the same uncertain disposition. One of the ladies accomplished the task. And the donkeys had much fun."
